

Chris Chomyn is a terrific cinematographer.

I have worked with Chris on three feature films and numerous other projects. He's professional, talented and extremely hard working. Chris has a great sense of humor and long hours working together are always enjoyable. His technical skills are excellent and he is proficient with the most current, cutting edge technology.

I would not hesitate to recommend Chris for projects both large and small, for dramatic or documentary and in any film, video or digital gauge or format.

I believe Chris would be an extremely valuable asset to any production.

Sincerely,
Don Coscarelli
